Community legal services and domestic and family violence services

We are calling for expressions of interest from people who share our vision of a future in which there is equality of access to justice and women and children are free from domestic and family violence.

Justice Support Centre, serving South West Sydney since 1986, is a community organisation that provides free services to the community. We support people in South West Sydney with legal issues and women and children affected by domestic and family violence in South West Sydney, City of Sydney, Inner West and Waverley.

We reached 16,608 people during FY 2024 a 57% increase from FY2023. We employ 80+ people and our annual revenue is over $11.5 million.
